Generosity.

SPECIAL APPEAL TO FAIR SEX

Murray, Ky., April 15.—In the following unique card Hon. Max Hanberry, a prominent member of the Cadiz bar, formally announces his candidacy for Governor of Kentucky, the announcement appearing to-day in the Calloway County Gazette:

Having stood for many years for "equal rights to all and exclusive privileges to none," (not even barring the women) and all these years having advocated five cardinal principles, and these being so well known to most of the people, if not all, and owing to the great, terrific and irresistible pressure brought to bear on me, and owing to the further fact that even Gus Willson has once been elected Governor, though knowing as I do that it will be a great sacrifice personally and financially to accept this position, feeling keenly the many laborious duties of this responsible position; yet, owing to this great pressure, I have decided to accept it. In fact, see no possible way to avoid it; and now, in order that none may misunderstand my position, will one more time make myself clear.

First—I am unalterably in favor of giving every "yellow dog" Democrat a lucrative office—one which will be remunerative enough to keep him from want, exertion and worry. Second—I am in favor of giving every white Republican (especially those who voted for Gus Willson and still remain loyal to their party) a pension, same to be ample to keep the wolf from the door without effort or care on his part.

Third—I am in favor of giving every negro voter a watermelon patch, a mule and a fish pond, with imported labor to handle his mule and cultivate the melons, free of care or cost to him.

Fourth—I am in favor of and will give all married women a forty-horse-power automobile of their own selection, and two hats each, every year, as large as any turbin wheel now in use for the operation of any grist mill in the State of not more than 600 barrels capacity, together with half a ton of chewing gum for each one annually; and will grant each one the exquisite privilege of saying anything she may see fit about her neighbor, no odds how slanderous, without fear or hindrance, either of law or equity. Of course, it goes without saying that every girl and single woman in all this commonwealth is to have a wicket phaeton and a sported pony without cost or care.

So with some degree of impatience, not on my account, however, but on account of the "dear people," I await my inauguration.

MAX HANBERRY.

It should be noted that Mr. Hanberry does not announce from which one of the great parties he seeks the nomination.

EXACT CENTS MUST BE CHARGED FOR TICKETS

Washington, April 15.—A resolution has been adopted by the Interstate Commerce Commission putting an end to the practice of railroad companies, for the sake of convenience in selling passenger tickets, whenever possible, at a charge in multiple of 5. For instance, if the fare according to the mileage figured 44 cents, the rate exacted has in many cases been 45 cents, and if it figured 42 cents, it might be 40 cents. By the order issued to-day, carriers are required to make the charge in odd cents.

TRY TO LYNCH DETECTIVE
IN THE THOMPSON CASE

Providence, Ky., April 15.—That a mob attempted to take a detective, John Sensing, of Nashville, out of the hotel at Providence recently, and was held at bay at the point of shot-guns, has just been made public here.

Sensing was employed by a public committee to investigate the mysterious murder of Henry Thompson here last December, and gave testimony before the grand jury now sitting at Dixon. Sensing arrived in Providence Saturday night and went to the hotel, and about midnight a mob, it is said, arrived at the hotel and demanded that Sensing come outside. The Marshall was sent for and threatened to shoot into the crowd if they did not disperse.

Sensing and the hotel proprietor sat up the balance of the night with shotguns on their laps and looked every minute for the mob to show up again. It is said that Sensing was able to present strong evidence to the grand jury at Dixon.

BIG K. P. CONVENTION MEETS IN OWENSBORO

Next Month—All Lodges in the District Will Send Delegates.

The district convention of the lodges of the Fifth district of the Knights of Pythias of Kentucky will be held in Owensboro in May, and preparations are being made to have it be one of the most successful and important conventions that has ever been held in the State. It is proposed to have the largest class initiation ever held in Western Kentucky, and each of the lodges in the district is invited to have a large number of candidates for the first rank. All of the lodges in the district will send a large delegation to the meeting, and as the meeting will continue only one day, Star lodge members are making preparations to entertain the visiting Knights on an elaborate scale. The Star lodge degree team, which has a widespread reputation for being one of the best in the State, will confer the first rank in amplified form.

The district is composed of the following lodges: Star lodge, No. 19, Owensboro; Ivy lodge, No. 21, Henderson; Breckenridge lodge, No. 61, Cloverport; Independent lodge, No. 98, Hawesville; Rough River lodge, No. 110, Hartford; Caluthe lodge, No. 144, Central City; Eclipse lodge, No. 150, Livermore; Dameron lodge, Leitchfield; Luther lodge, Drakesboro, and Golden Spur lodge, No. 190, Owensboro. The convention will be attended by Grand Chancellor R. L. Slade, Grand Keeper of Records and Seals J. W. Carter, Past Supreme Representative W. W. Blackwell of Henderson, and other grand lodge officials.

NO MEETING WAS HELD BY THE MACEO GROWERS

A surprise was in store for the representatives of the Green River Tobacco Grower's association when they arrived in Maceo Saturday morning, preparatory to attending the farmers' meeting, which had been called by W. G. Riney, president of the Green River association.

Hiram Marksberry, vice president; Walter Atherton, secretary, and T. M. Maple, one of the supporters of the Green River association, went to Maceo to represent the association, but, upon arriving at Maceo, found that something like 1,300 acres of tobacco had been pledged to a local committee, which had been appointed to confer with the Green River Tobacco Growers' Association, and the Home Warehouse company, in an effort to have a receiving point opened in the Maceo tobacco barn. The representatives of the association were unable to take any action until the tobacco had been pooled with the association unconditionally, and they returned to Owensboro. Consequently, there was no farmers' meeting held in Maceo.

Electric Lights for Livermore.

Work is being rushed by a large force of electricians on the erection of the electric light plant at Livermore, McLean county, and within the next few days the town will be lighted by electricity. The Livermore Electric Light company is installing thirty street lights and also has a large force of electricians engaged in wiring the private residences that will have the lights installed.

YOUTH CHARGED WITH PATRICIDE

Thomas Thompson Under Arrest Second Time.

AN INDICTMENT FOR MURDER

Returned Against Him by Webster County Grand Jury
—Was Arrested.

BOY KISSED MOTHER GOOD-BYE

Madisonville, Ky., April 14.—A sensation was created to-day when Thomas Thompson, aged 18, son of Henry T. Thompson, a wealthy merchant who was found murdered in a deep ravine near Providence the day after Christmas, was arrested for the second time, charged with patricide. An indictment was returned by the Webster county grand jury at Dixon late last night. It charged the boy with willful murder.

Deputy Sheriff Cosby Campbell at 2 o'clock this afternoon went to the High School at Providence, which young Thompson attends, and, calling the professor to the door, asked to speak to the accused boy. Quietly he informed him that he had a warrant for his arrest, charging him with murder.

The boy is reported to have made no answer, but went back and got his cap and walked away with the officer. He was taken to his home, where he kissed his mother and two sisters, who completely broke down when they learned of the arrest. At 5 o'clock he was taken to Dixon, where he was lodged in jail. Bail was denied him.

Three weeks after the wealthy merchant had been found dead in the ravine from a bullet of a 35-caliber steel-jacket automatic revolver, his son was arrested, charged with firing the shot which killed his father. All evidence introduced at the examining trial was of a circumstantial nature and was not sufficient to hold the boy. County Judge Brown, thereupon ordered his dismissal.

Detective Sensing, of Nashville, swore out a warrant for the arrest of a close friend of young Thompson, Kearney Benjamin, three days after Thompson was released from custody. After two days of trial, County Attorney Bennett moved that the charge against Benjamin be dismissed.

Not long afterward many citizens of Providence assembled at the city hall, and it was decided to ask the Mayor to appoint a secret committee of six men to work on the case, the identity of the members of the committee to be known only to Mayor Montgomery. It was learned on the third day after the grand jury was at work that it was investigating the case.

Over a score of witnesses were examined. Detective Sutton, of Providence, who swore out the warrant for Thompson's arrest, and Detective Sensing, who swore out the warrant for Benjamin's arrest, testified before the grand jury. What alleged evidence the citizens' committee discovered is unknown. Judge E. Henson is in Henderson and has not yet set the date for Thompson's trial.

Rumors of Confession.

Owensboro, Ky., April 14.—A special from Dixon says that the Commonwealth will place an eye-witness on the stand to testify in the Thompson murder case. It is understood that this witness will testify that Henry T. Thompson, father of Thomas Thompson, who was arrested to-day, left home early on the morning of the tragedy in search of his son. The latter, in company with Kearney Benjamin and other young men, had spent the night celebrating Christmas.

It is said in Dixon that some one has made a confession to the grand jury, but the identity of this person is being closely guarded. The names of twenty-five witnesses for the Commonwealth appear on the indictment, many of them being the most prominent citizens of Providence, where Thompson lived and was highly respected.

One of Henry T. Thompson's brothers resides in Louisville. Detectives have been working on the case ever since the crime.

HOUSE IN FAVOR OF DIRECT VOTE

Bill Providing for Popular Election of Senators

PASSED BY VOTE 296 TO 16

Minority, However, Opposed the Form of Proposed Amendment.

LONE DEMOCRAT AGAINST IT

The House of Representatives, by a vote of 296 to 16, passed last week the Rucker resolution proposing a constitutional amendment for the direct election of United States Senators. This is the first of the Democratic program measures passed by the House. Backed by a solid Democratic phalanx, it went through without modification and with a speed that brought protest from the Republicans.

The resolution, as the House approved it, is in the form of the Borah resolution reported out of the Senate Judiciary Committee in the closing days of the last Congress. Republican opposition to the Rucker resolution in the House was based on the fact that it did not contain the changes afterward made in the fight in the Senate, which assured to Congress continued control over elections in the several States.

After six hours of debate in which many demands were made for this change in the resolution, all but fifteen of the Republicans voted for the passage of the resolution. The majority of them had stated during the debate that they would support the resolution anyway, because they were convinced the public wanted such a constitutional amendment submitted to the country as quickly as possible.

Those who opposed the resolution on the final vote were:

Republicans—Cannon, Mann, Illinois; Danforth, Dwight, Malby, New York; Dadd, Fordney, McMoran, Michigan; Harris, Lawrence, McCall, Wilder, Massachusetts; Hinds, Maine; Sulloway, New Hampshire; Utter, Rhode Island.

Democrat—McDermott, Illinois.

Former Speaker Cannon, Republican leader Mann and others of the Republicans who voted against the measure, declared that its form was such as to threaten the Federal Government with the loss of control over the senatorial elections in the States given to safeguard the integrity of these elections. They insisted, as did other Republicans, who ultimately voted for the resolution, that the direct election amendment should be offered without any language attached that might be dangerous to the future congressional supervision of senatorial elections.

Democratic leaders declare that the Rucker resolution was open to no such construction and that it offered the most nearly perfect constitutional amendment that could be devised. An amendment offered by Representative Young, of Michigan, adding language that resembled that of the Sutherland amendment adopted in the Senate two months ago, was defeated by a party vote, 121 to 190.

STRANGE CO-INCIDENCE IN BIRTHS AND DEATHS

Richmond, Ky., April 16.—The funerals of Thomas Hurley and William Devore, Jr., were held here at 2 and 4 o'clock to-day.

Singular coincidences in connection with the lives and deaths of these two men were that they were born the same day, were boys together and grew up as chums. Both selected the same occupation, that of engineer, were about the same build, and died almost at the same time, on the same day and from the same cause and in the same manner.

The funerals were conducted about two hours apart in order that the Lodge of Locomotive Engineers could attend both.

A TRAGEDY ENACTED
NEAR THE PRESIDENT

Washington, April 13.—An unidentified negroess threw her son, 14 years old, into the tidal basin this afternoon and then drowned herself.

This double tragedy was enacted just a few minutes before the President and Major Butt rode up to the spot. They saw a crowd of boys running, some of them toward and some away from the place of the drowning. The President inquired what it was all about, and had Major Butt telephone for the harbor master and the police. These arrived, and the bodies were taken out of the basin at a point near where it empties into the Potomac river. The negro woman and the boy are supposed to have been strangers, her acts clearly indicating insanity.

The boy, according to the accounts of the spectators, struggled desperately while his head was being held under the water by his mother. The woman apparently had no difficulty in keeping her own head under water till she was dead.

CANDIDATE WM. ADDAMS STATES HIS POSITION

On Public Questions—Some Excellent Democratic Ideas Are Advanced.

Wm. Addams, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, has made an announcement of his position on public questions as follows:

1. Stringent educational laws that will secure more schools, better schools and better pay for the teachers, in order to insure competency, and such a system of schools as will insure equal opportunity to all children.
2. Constitutional revision of the tax laws.
3. All legislation necessary to bring the roads of Kentucky to the highest state of efficiency.
4. State bank inspection.
5. Bringing the military up to the highest standard of efficiency and freeing same from politics.
6. Organization and co-operation between farmers as well as among other laboring men, whether they labor in the field, factory, store, or wherever wage is earned.
7. Such legislation as would improve the relations between capital and labor.
8. The strict enforcement of that portion of Article 6 of the Constitution of United States which reads as follows: "No religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust."
9. Election of U. S. Senators by direct vote of the people.
10. The strict enforcement of all laws on the statute books.

ELSIE'S EASTER "RUBBER"
COST HER VERY DEARLY

Eliz., Neb., April 16.—Miss Elsie Stuart to-day succeeded in seeing the back of her head, but in doing so she dislocated her neck, tearing some of the ligaments from their fastenings, necessitating her being sent to a hospital at Omaha, there to have the injuries righted.

Miss Stuart was arrayed in her best, and upon her head was perched a new and stylish Easter hat. Standing in front of a long mirror in her home, she desired to get a back view of herself.

Backing up to the mirror she twisted her head until she was almost looking backward. Then there was a snapping of muscles, sounding much like the report of a small pistol, and Miss Stuart found herself unable to turn her head to the right, the left or forward. She was continually looking backward.

The pain was intense, but the young woman was placed on a special train and hurried away to Omaha, where a surgeon pulled the neck back into place, set the face so that it looks to the front and caught up the dislocated ligaments.

SHOE TORN FROM FOOT
BY LIGHTNING'S PRANK

Marion, Ky., April 14.—During a thunderstorm an outer building near the residence of Levi Cook, a jeweler of this city, was struck by lightning. At the time Mr. Cook was standing near the building with one foot resting on the door sill. The lightning struck the top of the building, ran downward, tearing the shoe from his foot and severely burning his foot. Otherwise he was unharmed.

A FIERCE BATTLE IS PRECIPITATED

Between Mexican Warring Factions,

ENDING ONLY WITH DARKNESS

Insurrectos Hold Agua Prieta
After 17 Hours of Bloody Fighting.

AGAIN FIRE ACROSS THE LINE

Agua Prieta, Mexico, April 17.—(From the Associated Press correspondent in the field.)—Ending only with darkness, and then without final victory, the most important battle of the Mexican revolution was fought here to-day between 1,600 federals under Lieut. Col. Diaz, and 1,000 rebels under Balasao Garcia.

Two hundred federals were killed according to the rebels, who put their own casualties at twenty.

Despite the previous warnings given by the United States to the leaders of both forces, a rain of bullets poured into the American town of Douglas, wounding several non-combatants, and causing terror, until firing ceased at 6:30 o'clock to-night.

The federals made two attacks, each time being repulsed, and when night came they retired, leaving their two field guns behind, to be taken into the rebel lines.

A hail of bullets from the machine guns gave the rebels notice of a final advance at dawn. The rebels directed their fire at the crews manning the machine guns, but the federal fire was so fierce that the rebels were forced back to their second line of entrenchments.

As the federals advanced, the rebels' fire became effective, and after three hours' fighting the federals began retreating.

At 11 o'clock the repulsed federals again advanced, with the rebels encouraged by early success, returning the fire eagerly. After continued fighting, the federals again found the rebels too strong and fell back, firing as they retired, leaving field and machine guns to the rebels.

More than half of Douglas watched the battle from beginning to end. Col. Schunk, commanding the United States troops at Douglas, rushed four troops of cavalry to the boundary line and took every possible precaution for the safety of the citizens, keeping them out of that portion of the city considered most exposed.

Every indication points to a resumption of the fighting to-night or to-morrow. If the federals should prove successful, it means that the battle will be carried to the streets of Agua Prieta, with increasing menace to the citizens of Douglas.

There is a movement to-night among the leading citizens of Douglas to send a large number of telegrams to President Taft, asking him to safeguard at any cost the lives of the United States citizens.

Desperate Fighting.

Agua Prieta, April 17.—Bulletin—At 10:30 o'clock to-night the battle between the Mexican federals and insurrectos which began at dawn this morning, is still in progress, and the fighting has been carried to the boundaries of Agua Prieta by the federals. By a desperate night attack the federals regained the ground lost in the day. The indications were that daylight would find the opposing armies engaged in a hand-to-hand conflict.

Book on Science of Stuffing.

"Lessons in Taxidermy" is the title of a little booklet just issued by James M. DeWeese, B. S., ex-Supt. Public Schools of Ohio county and Captain Co. H, Third Infantry, and Olney M. Felix, B. S., graduate taxidermist, now in the employ of the U. S. Government. It is a most comprehensive volume on the art and science of mounting birds and animals, and makes the task very plain and easy. It sells for only $1 and it is well worth the price to anyone interested in this matter. It is for sale by the New School of Taxidermy, Owensboro, Ky.

MANY PERISHED IN BIG TORNADO

A Fierce Storm Sweeps
Parts of the West.

TWO TOWNS ARE SWEEP AWAY

Wires Down Over Wide Area
and Full Extent of Disaster Unknown.

A PATH OF DEATH AND INJURY

Kansas City, Mo., April 12.—A heavy wind storm, attaining the velocity of a tornado in some sections, and accompanied by rain, hail and lightning, swept over western Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma to-day, killing twenty-three persons, practically destroying two towns, injuring almost a hundred persons, wrecking scores of buildings and putting almost every telephone and telegraph wire in the territory out of commission.

The tornado levied its greatest toll of death at Big Heart, Okla., where eight persons were killed, ten injured and almost every building in the town wrecked. It has a population of 400.

At Whiting, Kan., the town was practically wiped off the map, sixty buildings being blown down, thirty persons hurt and Mrs. David Stone killed.

At Powhattan, Kan., a woman and child were killed. A high school building was wrecked at Eskridge, Kan., a number of houses damaged and from fifteen to twenty persons injured.

At Hiawatha, Kan., a school house was blown down, an 8-year-old boy, named Pelton, was killed, and several buildings were demolished. Several persons are known to have been hurt at Netawaka, Kan. A boy was killed at Manville, Kan.

The Kansas end of the tornado started near Whiting and swept in a southeasterly direction for a distance of more than fifty miles.

It is thought that many more persons were killed or injured than have been reported at this time. Telegraph and telephone crews are working, now that the storm has abated, to get the wires in shape. It is a big task, as only one wire was left intact between Kansas City and Topeka and telegraph communication between Kansas City and Oklahoma points was cut off.

In Kansas City the storm did little damage. A few horses were killed by lightning and some buildings struck. The rain in Kansas City lasted about an hour and was heavy. A hail storm accompanied it.

Two more deaths were reported from near Hiawatha late to-night. Geraldine Meisner, 10 years old, and a small child of Otis Melot are the victims. The Meisner girl sought refuge with three companions in a country school house and the building was wrecked soon afterwards. The dead girl's companions were uninjured. It is not known how the Melot boy met his death.

A JUDGE'S GOOD ADVICE TO A WOMAN—AN INSTANCE

Judge Goodnow, of the Municipal Court, in patching up a domestic dispute the other day, made some remarks that were worthy of Solomon. A woman had caused the arrest of her husband who was charged with having treated her cruelly. When her testimony was given, it appeared that the man had been more sinned against than sinning. Having discharged the prisoner, the judge turned to the complainant and said:

"Madam, go home and take your husband with you. And in the future try to do less talking."

It is probable that if all domestic squabbles could be thoroughly investigated, it would be found that many or a majority of them were due to excessive talking on one side or the other. Let it not be supposed that we share the long-standing belief that women do all the scolding. There are many male scolds, and Judge Goodnow will in his capacity of general pacifier, find plenty of opportunities for patching up quarrels by giving to men the same advice that he gave to the woman.

When husbands and wives can overcome the habit of letting one word lead to another, there will be fewer divorces, and grave judges will seldom find it necessary to devote their valuable time to the business of ending quarrels which have grown out of trivial misunderstandings. We are tempted to suggest as a companion piece for the "God-Bless-Our-Home" motto, the philosophical phrase:

"VULGAR MEDDLER" AND "STUPID FOUR-FLUSHER"

"Absolute Fool," "Purveyor of Balderdash"—Women Attack Col. Roosevelt.

New York, April 14.—"Stupid four-flusher," "absolute fool," "purveyor of balderdash," "clumsy, common and vulgar meddler," are a few of the epithets which some of the women critics of Col. Roosevelt here have applied to him, caused by the Roosevelt dictum that marriages of less than four children are sterile, and are common to prominent women of New York.

Those contributing to these choice and caustic remarks were Mrs. Isaac L. Rice, president of the Society for Suppressing Unnecessary Noise; Mrs. Marcella Townsend, treasurer of the Woman's Political Union, and Mrs. Arthur Elliott Fish.

Mrs. Townsend said that if she used the right word to describe Roosevelt's idiocy the newspapers wouldn't print it.

Mrs. Fish asked why women should go through all that Roosevelt considers necessary, just as a service to the State, when the State has done nothing for her. "It doesn't even give the children proper protection," she said.

In the current number of the Outlook Magazine, Col. Roosevelt has an article on "Race Decadence" in which he says that a minimum of four children to the family is necessary to prevent race suicide.

The Colonel declares the race cannot go ahead; it will not keep its number even if this minimum figure is reduced.

"In most of the Southern States," Roosevelt says, "there is a purer and higher standard of conduct in this matter."

From the standpoint of the race, Roosevelt counts the average three-child marriage "a sterile marriage."

HER "AFFINITY," SCANTILY CLAD

Marched Through Streets
by Irate Husband.

WERE CAUGHT IN HOTEL ROOM

The "Woman in the Case"
Says She'll Immediately
Sue for Divorce.

A FAMOUS BEAUTY'S TROUBLES

Atlanta, Ga., April 14.—Atlanta had treated to-day to the sight of an enraged husband marching through the principal streets of the city the scantily clad alleged "affinity" of his wife, caught, it is asserted, in a hotel room with her, to a police station, where he had charges entered against him, the case tried and a $100 fine imposed.

The husband was R. B. Strange, a well-known salesman. The alleged "affinity" was J. W. Nix, Auditor of the Atlantic Compress Company.

In the meantime Mrs. Strange had been left in the hotel room to make her way home as best she could.

"I would have killed him if I had had a pistol," said Strange at the police station, "but I wouldn't have harmed my wife, for she is a woman."

Then Strange asked permission to use a telephone. Stepping into the booth he called up Mrs. Nix, the wife of the alleged "affinity," and detailed the whole story to her over the wire. Ending, he informed her Nix would be named as co-respondent in divorce proceedings.

"If he doesn't sue for divorce, I will," said Mrs. Strange this afternoon. "He has treated me cruelly and has pawned all my jewels. I'll show him up in all his meanness. I went to the hotel on business. Mr. Nix had promised to get me work."

Nix declared he did not know Mrs. Strange was married.

Strange discovered his wife in the hotel largely through accident. Passing on a trolley car, he saw her in a strange section of the town, got off, followed her, entered the hotel and went to the room, where, the hotel owners declare, she was registered as the wife of Nix, and broke in. Nix threatened to break away several times on the way to the station, but Strange bluffed him by the threat of using a gun he did not have with him.

Brought before the Recorder, Nix made no defense when Strange told his story. The Recorder imposed a fine of $100 and costs, which was paid.

Mrs. Strange is one of the most beautiful women in Atlanta. She is of the blonde type. Her presence on the streets always attracts attention because of her beauty and the striking way in which she dresses.

SAID SHE HEARD A BABY CRYING, BUT IT WAS A DOG

Owensboro, Ky., April 14.—The young daughter of Hiram Stogner, of this county, rushed breathlessly home this afternoon and told her parents she had seen a baby hanging by its neck to a tree limb and had heard its screams while on her way home from school. A posse was formed, led by the girl, and the entire neighborhood was aroused. When the tree was reached where the girl said she saw the baby it was discovered that someone had hanged a dog by a piece of wire. It was still kicking and yelping when cut down.

THE HOUSE FLY AND THE DISEASES HE TRANSMITS

There was a time, not so many years ago, when the best of the housewives looked with a scowl at the man of the family if he sent back to the kitchen the soup or coffee, just because a fly had accidentally fallen into it.

"Why couldn't he," was our overbearing thought, "have taken it out; it was still alive and he could see that it had just dropped in. Of course it would have been different if it had been a long time dead; but what harm is there in a live fly?"

Now we know the harm there is

JUST FIFTY YEARS AGO THE CIVIL WAR BEGAN

With the Fort Sumpter Fight—
One Survivor Remains to Celebrate Event.

New York, April 12.—Claiming to be the only survivor of the Fort Sumpter fight, which opened the Civil war, 50 years ago to-day, General Roger Atkinson Pryor, aged 83, distinguished soldier and lawyer, to-day observed the anniversary by entertaining a number of war veterans. A speech delivered by General Pryor in Charleston resulted in the ultimatum being sent to Major Anderson.

Just 50 years ago on the 12th of April, 1861, the American Civil war began. At 4:30 o'clock on the morning of that day, the Confederate shore batteries at Charleston, S. C., opened fire upon Fort Sumpter, one of the forts located in the great harbor at that point. Thirty-six hours later, after those batteries had fired 1,361 shot and 980 shells at the walls of the fort, the little garrison, under Major Anderson, gave up the unequal contest and surrendered. On the morning of the 14th Major Anderson and his command—less than 100 men—marched out of the fort with honors of war, and embarked for New York.

Thus the greatest and bloodiest of modern wars—a war in which some three million men were under arms, and in which 500,000 or thereabouts were either killed outright or died of wounds or disease—was precipitated.

A half century has suffered to heal the wounds that were raw and bleeding, when the war closed, and now the bitterness of the conflict has been forgotten. Now it is pathetically amusing to read the impassioned and biased stories of the battles of the rebellion that were written while the war was in progress or immediately after its close.

HOW JOHNNY SUMMED IT UP—JUST ABOUT RIGHT

Assemblyman Nelson L. Drummond, of Cayuga, was talking in Albany about his system of weekly reports to his constituents.

"In these reports," he said, "I tell my constituents what legislation is going on and what part in it I myself am taking."

"I think such reports are necessary when a man is in politics. The average citizen, you know, is inclined to look on politicians with the cynical eye of little Johnny Jones."

"Johnny," said his teacher, "if coal is selling at $6 a ton, and you pay your dealer $24, how many tons will be bringing you?"

"Three, ma'am," said Johnny promptly.

"Why, Johnny, that isn't right," said the teacher.

"No, ma'am. I know it ain't," said Johnny, "but they all do it."

Putting One Over.

"Oh, yes," Mrs. Smith told us, "my husband is an enthusiastic archeologist. And I never knew it till yesterday. I found in his desk some queer-looking tickets with the inscription, 'Mudhorse, 8 to 1.' And when I asked him what they were, he explained to me that they were relics of a lost race. Isn't it interesting?"

FORCED A BOY'S GARB UPON GIRL

After Her Hair Had Been

"PHYSICAL CULTURE DOCTOR"

Is Held in $3,000 Bail After Shocking Story Had Been Told.

KEPT IN CLOSE SUBJECTION

Atlantic City, N. J., April 14.—The girl who was found living in boys' clothing with "Dr." Frank M. Girard, alleged professor of physical culture, in a small tent on the beach here, turned out to-day to be Miss Catherine Potter, 23 years old, daughter of Mrs. A. Potter, a widow, of Sandy Lake, Penn., and sister of S. E. Potter, head of a prominent manufacturing concern of Chicago.

The girl was found as a result of a letter she wrote to her mother on a paper bag.

Girard was held by Magistrate Grove to-day in $3,000 bail after the girl's shocking story had been told in Court.

The girl said she fell into the clutches of Girard when she answered an advertisement telling how thin women could be developed by his method of physical culture.

Girard, she said, induced her to come to Atlantic City on March 9. He met her at the station, and, according to her story, he was so eloquent over his method of development that she gladly consented to undertake a course of treatment.

She remained only two weeks and then fled. Her money carried her only to Jamesburg, N. J., where Girard overtook her and brought her back. Then he cut her hair off and compelled the girl to wear boy's clothing. Thereafter, she said, he kept her in subjection by threatening to do her bodily harm.

After repeated attempts to escape, she finally wrote a note to her mother on a paper bag and had it mailed. The family had been searching for the girl ever since she left and had concluded she was dead.

Girard, the police say, admitted the truth of the girl's story. In letters found in his possession it appears he has been masquerading under various aliases. Several hundred letters from other young women desiring better development of figure were found in his possession.

SCIENTIFIC NEW DISCOVERIES

By the electro-magnetic telegraph an operator can exactly locate a fracture in a submarine cable nearly 3000 miles long. A few fossils sent to an expert geologist enable him to accurately determine the rock formation from which they are taken. This he can describe as perfectly as if the rocky formation was before him on the table.

So, also, in medical science. Disease has certain unmistakable signs and symptoms. By reason of this fact the physicians and specialists connected with Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, are enabled to accurately determine the nature of many chronic diseases without seeing and personally examining their patients. In recognizing disease without a personal examination of the patient, they do not claim to possess miraculous powers. They obtain their knowledge of the patient's disease by practical and well-established principles of modern science. Certain diseases display certain peculiar traits. Subjected to scientific analysis they furnish abundant data to guide the judgment of the skillful practitioner. This method of treating patients at a distance, by mail, has been so successful that there is scarcely a city or a village in the United States that is not represented by one or more cases upon the records of practice at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute. Such rare cases as cannot be treated in this way, which require surgical operations or careful after-treatment, or electrical therapies, receive the services of the most skillful specialists at the institution.

Dr. R. V. Pierce long ago established this Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute with a full Staff of Physicians who were expert in their specialties. These physicians may be consulted, by letter, free and without charge whatever, if you wish a specialist's advice upon any chronic malady. The same system of "specialties" is observed as in the departments of a medical college. The professor who would assume to lecture in all departments with equal ease and proficiency would be severely ridiculed by his colleagues, and it is just as absurd to suppose that the general practitioner can keep himself informed of the many new methods of treatment that are being constantly devised and adopted in the several departments of Medicine and Surgery.

People who have been patients at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., have much to say in regard to this wonderfully equipped Sanitarium, where all the latest electrical apparatus, as well as electric water baths, Turkish baths, static electric machines, high-frequency current, and other most modern and up-to-date apparatus are used for the cure of chronic diseases. The treatment of the chronic diseases that are peculiar to women have for many years been a large factor in the specialty of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute.

The violet-ray treatment, which is another interesting proceeding, is carried out by concentrating the light, rich in the violet or chemical rays, from an arc light with a specially prepared lens, upon any portion of the body that is the seat of pain. Sufferers from neuralgia, sciatica, rheumatism, strains, sprains, also from those obscure exhausting pains (the origin of which cannot at times be accurately determined), frequently find immediate relief from a single treatment and usually with a little persistence in the use of this aid, comfortable health or perfect recovery is obtained.

Then, there is the incandescent light bath, consisting of a cabinet in which the patient is bathed in the combined rays of many electric lights. It has produced really wonderful results in diabetes, sciatica, rheumatism, obesity, amenia, and some forms of kidney and heart trouble. It has also proven valuable in chronic bronchitis, bronchial asthma and the various skin diseases. As a general hygienic measure its efficiency can scarcely be overestimated.

In medicine there has been rapid and real progress during recent years, and Dr. Pierce has kept up with the times in that he has had the manufacture and ingredients in his well-known remedies improved in a modern laboratory by skilled chemists, the greatest care being exercised to see that the ingredients entering into his well-known medicines Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery" are extracted from the best variety of native medicinal roots, gathered with great care and at the proper season of the year, so that their medicinal properties may be most reliable.

Great care is exercised not to over-encourage those who consult the specialists of this institution that no false hopes may be raised.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Times and 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound.

GREAT OLD-TIME FOUR-MILE RACE

Will Be Run in Kentucky Next Fall.

THE CONDITIONS ARE FRAMED

And Arrangements Made for a Famous International Event.

A BIG ATTRACTION PROMISED

Lexington, Ky., April 14.—At one of the Kentucky tracks next fall there will be a four-mile race, and it may become an international event. In the course of a conversation at horsemen's headquarters today between Major Foxhall A. Daingerfield, John O. Keene, Green B. Morris and Mickey Shannan, Major Daingerfield suggested that a four-mile race between the best horses in this country would prove a great attraction at one of the three tracks in Kentucky next fall.

"Why couldn't we have such a race," asked Jack Keene.

"We could if some one would promote it," replied Major Daingerfield.

"I'll undertake that," said Keene, "and I'll pledge an entry from J. N. Camden's string right now."

In the next few minutes Major Daingerfield had framed the condition: "A sweepstakes for three-year-olds and upward; weight for age; distance four miles; $100 to nominate; $250 additional to start; each nominator to have the privilege of naming three horses, only one of which is to start; the associations in Kentucky to bid for the race, which is to be run in the fall of 1911 over the track of the association bidding the greater sum, said sum to be added to the stakes; 70 per cent. to the winner, 20 per cent. to the second and 10 per cent. of the stakes to the third horse."

Major Daingerfield subscribed for James R. Keene and remarked that he would take Celt out of the stud at Castleton and get him ready for the race. Jack Keene subscribed, in the name of J. N. Camden, whose partner and trainer he is in the stable now at the Kentucky Association course. Fletcher Driver took a subscription at once in the name of his father-in-law, Thomas H. Stevens, and by the time Jack Keene had walked over to the Phoenix Hotel the names of Irving H. Wheatcroft and Barney Schreiber had been added to the list of nominators. The race will be open to the world, and there is a chance that somebody in France and England will want to send an entry across the Atlantic to try conclusions. Entry blanks will be prepared at once and can be had upon application to J. O. Keene.

SUNFLOWER PHILOSOPHY.

Keep doing something; people are going to kick anyway.

It can at least be said for woman that she doesn't use a cane unless she is lame.

A lot of people are convicted on circumstantial evidence without going into court.

A demure little woman is the type which can usually be relied upon to boss a man.

It is about as safe to roast a woman's church in her presence as to slam her favorite poet.

It is every man's private belief that his wife wouldn't clean house so often if she thought he enjoyed it.

Nearly every man has an excuse for his blunders, among which simplified spelling is about the weakest.

A woman can give no greater proof of her absolute trust in a man than by holding a nail while he drives it.

Don't try to judge a man's batting average by the dope he gives out before the spring training trip begins.

Orators would be more generally satisfactory if they would stop talking when they run out of something to say.

Once in awhile you will find a woman who gets in sly digs at her husband by praising the good qualities.

There is a bare possibility, however, that you pay for the cigar the merchant graciously donates when you pay your bill.

Examination day in school is a bad time to attempt to convince a boy that he is apt to have worse troubles in his after life.

Very few women succeed in lifting the mortgage from the old home by learning to produce a superior article in handpainted china.—[Atchison Globe.]

GOV. WILSON DECLARES FOR THE REFERENDUM

Trenton, April 14.—Gov. Wilson, in a special message to the Legislature, urges the passage of a bill giving cities a commission form of government that provides for the initiative, referendum and recall. The Governor in his message says there is a healthy and general demand for the passage of the bill now before the New Jersey Legislature providing for such a government, and in endorsing the initiative, referendum and recall, he adds: "The bill will enable the people to correct the mistakes of their Governors, to adopt measures upon their own initiative when necessary, and to recall from office unsatisfactory officials. These have proved not only efficient but absolutely part of what is now known as the commission form of government in various cities of the country."

"The changes proposed are not experimental; they have been tested by abundant experience elsewhere, and I am sure that it would afford all thoughtful persons cause for serious disappointment if the Legislature should not avail itself of this opportunity to show itself allied in this matter, as in all others, with the impulses of progress now so handsomely manifest in our body politic."

RECTIFYING AN ERROR WITH AN ILLUSTRATION

Uncle Joe Cannon, at a dinner in Washington, said of Speaker's errors, according to the Detroit Free Press:

"All Speakers make queer errors now and then. Usually, though, they correct them with address."

"Once, in the Illinois Legislature, there were two men—Montague Harrison and Harrison Montague. The first was very short, the second very tall; but the Speaker, during a debate, once addressed the former as the latter."

"He recovered himself, however, quickly. He said, with a chuckle: 'It is strange that I should take Harrison Montague for Montague Harrison—that I should make such a mistake as that—for there is as great difference between you two gentlemen as there is between a horse chestnut and chestnut horse.'"

WHEN TO SPRAY ---WHAT TO USE

To Protect Fruit Trees at This Season.

RECIPES FOR THE SOLUTIONS

Which May be Easily and Cheaply Prepared and As Easily Used.

SOME VALUABLE INFORMATION

The following has been received from the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, M. A. Scovell, Director:

Fruit trees ought to be sprayed twice regularly every year, once immediately after the blossoming period is past and again in a week or ten days. Whether or not they should be sprayed at other times depends entirely upon what pests are present on the trees and whether or not the trees have ever been sprayed before.

Immediately after the blossoming period is past, spray at once with the following:

Bluestone, 4 lbs.; lime, 4 lbs.; water, 50 gallons; arsenate of lead, 3 lbs.

Slake the lime and add enough water to make 25 gallons. Dissolve the bluestone by pouring over it four or five gallons of boiling water, then add enough water to make 25 gallons of bluestone solution. Now mix the two thoroughly by pouring bucket by bucket in a barrel, and add the arsenate of lead, stirring thoroughly. It is ready for use at once, and is the best preparation known for apple scab, rot, and codling moth.

For peach and Japanese plum, use less bluestone and lime—2 lbs. each, in 50 gallons of water. The arsenate of lead may be reduced also, to two pounds. Or, if preferred, the self-boiled lime-sulphur wash may be used for these trees, but whatever is used, the arsenate of lead must be added to destroy the curculio.

Use the same mixtures and spray a second time a week or ten days later. If rots give trouble late in the season, a third spraying may be needed, but in many orchards only the two early spring sprayings are necessary to keep the trees in good condition.

When San Jose scale is present in an orchard, spraying should begin in winter. It is possible at this time to reach all of the bark surface, and very strong preparations may be employed while the trees are dormant.

For San Jose scale and other insects of its family, spray in winter or early spring, before the buds swell, with the lime sulphur wash with only preparations such as coal-oil emulsion, or with strong soap solutions. Lime-sulphur wash may be prepared as follows:

Lime, 20 lbs.; sulphur, 14 lbs.; water, 50 gallons. Slake the lime in a large kettle, adding at the same time and stirring thoroughly. When slaked, add twenty gallons of water and boil an hour. Then add sufficient hot water to make a barrel of wash. Strain before using.

Every Bottle is Guaranteed. Every bottle of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey is guaranteed to give satisfaction in all throat and bronchial troubles.

SCIENTIFIC ASPECTS OF HOW WE FALL ASLEEP

We never know when we fall asleep because the process is gradual and the body falls asleep by installments. Man is wondrously complex, composed of several kingdoms in one, and the various thrones are abdicated by consciousness in succession. Cabanis, a French physiologist, thinks that the sense of sight sleeps first, then the sense of taste, next the sense of smell, next that of hearing and last of all the sense of touch. It is clear that the muscles of the legs and arms lose their power before those which support, and these again sooner than the muscles which sustain the back. In waking, the process is again gradual, and in reverse order.

SOME TYPES OF WIVES.

[Life.]

It may interest our correspondent to know, for example, that we have reduced all wives to 28 types. Some of these are:

The Nagger (under this head are blonde and brunette naggers, plain, fancy and complex).

The Highbrow (this includes all intellectual types—plain, fancy, neurotic, musical, artistic, hero worshippers, long and short hair, &c.).

The Hugger (under this head are kissers, squeezers, baldhead smackers, clingers, strangle-holders, weepers and you-don't-love-me-any-more sighers).

The Gadders (shoppers, neighborhood visitors, drag-you-outers, &c.).

The Fretter (always-looking-on-the-dark-siders, brooders, trouble mongers, wan smilers, worriers, &c.).

The Clothes Horse (all types of dressers, hobble skitters, lingerie cravers, spenders, get-into-debtors, &c.).

The Queen (this type includes all extremes between the minimum of intellect and maximum of good looks—the kind that looks well on parade, but useless for any other purpose).

Dominator (wants-everything-her-own-way type, servant dispellers, latch key controllers, furniture movers, &c.).

Homers (including all domestic styles, knitters, crocheters, sock darners, feet soakers, red flannel fiends, doctor compellers, &c.).

The Doubter (all victims of jealousy, trap layers, stair watchers, reproachers, letter openers, eye searchers, &c.).

The Good Sport (bridge players, cigarette smokers, race trackers, bifurcators, golfers, Wall street flyers, &c.).

The Tombstoner (all invalids, sanitarium devotees, temperature takers, grow worriers, no hopes, pale facers, chronic tea gowners, &c.).

For better, ringworm, eczema, running sores and all skin diseases, Dr. Bell's Antiseptic Salve is guaranteed to give satisfaction or you get your money back. 25c everywhere.

BUILT HOUSE IN TWO DAYS AFTER FIRE DESTROYED IT

Glasgow, Ky., April 13.—On Monday Archie Marcum's house, near Lobb, in Green county, was destroyed by fire. By Tuesday night enough logs had been placed in a mill yard by sympathizing neighbors to saw out a house pattern and most of the lumber with which to construct the house was sawed. This lumber was exchanged for some more seasoned, and to-night the family expect to sleep in their new house, where only a few hours ago the old home stood.

Of course there are many details yet unfinished, but to cut logs, saw them and build a house in two days is pretty quick work.

"I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for the good VINOL has done me. I was told that Cod Liver Oil was the medicine I needed for my weakened condition and poor blood. I could not take the greasy mixture, and when our druggist told me that VINOL contained not only tonic iron but all the medicinal properties of Cod Liver Oil without the grease or oil or bad taste, I made up my mind that was the medicine for me. I tried it and to-day am strong and well."

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you want a book that tells all about woman's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. In handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps.

The season of sassafras tea and spring poets is now upon us. We'll take tea, please.

All Uncle Sam asks of those Mexican scoundrels is that they "shiny on their own side."

Few of us in this country are interested in any way whatever in the champagne war in France.

Remember there are several "winters" yet to come this spring, including the "blackberry" type.

It is said that the negroes of Kentucky are against Judge O'Rear for the Governorship because he wrote the opinion of the Court of Appeals which turned colored pupils out of Berea College.

A dozen hens, two roosters and a good cow ought to make most any sick person well, as it has been demonstrated that fresh eggs and milk are the most nutritive and harmless elements of food.

Democracy stands for something.
The Kentucky Democratic Executive Committee ought to, also, by calling a State Convention before the primary to enunciate a party platform, and thus emphasize Democracy's stand—for something.

In the House, the Rucker amendment for election of U. S. Senators by popular vote passed by a vote of 296 to 16. Of these sixteen objectors, fifteen were of course Republicans while one lone, Iorn Democrat—McDermott, of Illinois—stood with them, a solitary figure.

Hartford, like many other towns and cities of the country, is disappointed at the population the census man gave us—only 976. This was a considerable increase, however,
over the figures of ten years ago. Guess we'll have to "take the count," but be it distinctly understood, we are still in the ring, and the best town of our size in the whole country.

Long-drawn-out deadlocks of Legislatures in the election of United States Senators—so useless and so very expensive—will be things of the past when the people get a whack at the matter and elect these Senators to suit themselves. It will be a death-blow to lobbies and "special interests," but it will give the common people a chance at a matter which vitally concerns them but which at present they have very little to do with.

Not for many years have the Democrats had such a chance to make a record for themselves as during the present session of Congress. True, they may not be able to enact much into law besides the Canadian reciprocity measure, but they can show what they stand for and put it up to the Republicans to meet the issues. It should, and no doubt will be, a measuring of lances.
The Democrats should make a decisive stand for much needed and popular legislation, and whether they win out at this session or not, they will anyhow advance the cause of Democracy.

In a recent issue of the Youth's Companion, one of the high-class magazines, appears a short story by one of Hartford's erstwhile belles, Mrs. Tula Pendleton Cummins, now a resident of Richmond, Va. The title of the sketch is "The Dream-House," and it is a beautiful piece of imagery depicting the bride-life of a Kentucky girl who had gone West. It is very touching in its word-painting. For several years
Mrs. Cummins has been a popular and much-sought writer for the magazines. We understand she is now at work on a large novel which will be issued by the publishers at an early date.

MINISTER HURLS BOOKS
AT A SLEEPING BROTHER

Los Angeles, Cal., April 14.—Dr.
R. H. Crossfield, President of Transylvania University of Kentucky, was greatly annoyed during his sermon to-night at the First Christian Church by two of the brethren who had fallen asleep.

One of the transgressors, evidently a light sleeper, was aroused by the Doctor's sarcastic remarks about "pillars and sleepers of the church."
The other, however, began to snore,
the gurgling intake being followed by rasping expirations.

The Kentucky parson could stand it no longer. Keeping right on with the sermon, he shied a hymn book at the unconscious sleeper. One book followed another until the audience was in a perfect titter, but the sleeper simply opened his eyes for a moment, and, shifting his position from full face to profile, slept right on until the benediction.

FEDERAL LICENSE TO SELL
LIQUOR IS INCRIMINATING

Frankfort, Ky., April 15.—The Court of Appeals has rendered two very important decisions.

One of them was in the case of B. B. King against the Commonwealth, and was appealed from Logan county, the case being affirmed.

The Appellate Court holds that a Government license held by a man accused of selling liquor in local option territory is prima facie evidence of guilt, and says it is not necessary to have direct evidence of the guilt of the accused, but that circumstantial evidence is sufficient.

In a case appealed from Warren county, the Court of Appeals decided that an adopted child cannot inherit from any of the kindred of the adopted father and mother.

Though the foster parents have a perfect right to bind themselves to make the child their heir, they cannot extend this right to inherit from others.

THOUGHTLESS OF MANDY
TO SCARE THE CROWD SO

Eatonville, Ga., April 15.—What promised to be the biggest negro funeral ever held in Putnam county was turned into a wild panic to-day, when the subject of the obsequies, Mandy Warren, suddenly raised her head to the glass covering of the coffin and blinked at the leaders of a long line of mourners who had formed for a last look at the remains. All the superstitions of many dark ages flashed to the surface when it dawned on the crowd at the cemetery that the corpse had revived. All but two ran as for their immortal souls, and only a few of them remain to be accounted for in the community. Two men had enough presence of mind to get a doctor. The woman will recover.

KING AND QUEEN WASH
FEET OF POOR PEOPLE

Madrid, April 13.—Instead of going to Seville, where a round of gayeties had been arranged for their stay, King Alfonso and Queen Eugenie to-day washed the feet of ten poor men and women as a part of the Maundy Thursday celebration in the royal palace.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of princes, grandees, diplomats and church and state dignitaries.

A chamberlain poured water on the feet of the poor from a silver jug, while a maid of honor held the silver basin and towel. A banquet was served to the poor afterward, the courses being carried from the kitchen by grandees and served personally by the King and Queen.

During the adoration of the cross in the royal chapel to-morrow, the King will pardon 11 men condemned to die, saying: "I pardon them so that God may be merciful unto me."

Ohio County Poultry.

Wednesday and Thursday of last week were red-letter days in this county for those who had any kind of poultry to sell. A special price for these two days was made by W.
E. Ellis, the produce merchant of this city, and by E. P. Barnes & Bro. and John Arbuckle, of Beaver Dam. It is estimated that no less than 70,000 pounds of chickens were shipped from these two points, and in round figures amounted to $10,000. The poultry was shipped direct to New York. Mr.
Ellis shipped nearly 75 cases of eggs or 2,250 dozen on these two days.

The Coca Cola people won out in their fight with the Government at Chattanooga. The jury and court decided that the drink is not injurious and that the little caffeine it contains is of little consequence. The Government threatens to take the case to a higher court.

THE CATHOLIC
IN PUBLIC LIFE

Has Always Shown Loyal Devotion

TO INTERESTS OF HIS COUNTRY

Where Creeds Are Not Recognized in March of Human Liberty.

DECLINE OF "KNOW-NOTHING"

Among the comments upon the election of James Aloysius O'Gorman as Senator from New York, is one by Congressman Martin W. Littleton, a Protestant, a Southerner by birth and heritage, and now a New Yorker:

"The presentation of O'Gorman's name served to set at rest the allegations that the insurgents (in the New York Legislature) were indisposed to vote for a Roman Catholic and an Irish-American."

That Senator O'Gorman was voted for by members without regard to his religious affiliation, evidences anew that this is a country of equal opportunities for Catholic, Protestant, Jew, Unitarian, and unbeliever. How great has been the gain of the Catholic Church in the Democratic atmosphere of free America is suggested by comparison of the election of O'Gorman with the colonial law of New York, enacted 211 years ago, which made it a capital offense for a priest to be found within its jurisdiction. Any citizen could make the arrest, and it mattered little whether the priest was in the State by accident or design.
This law remained on the statute books until the adoption of the Federal Constitution in 1787.

At the present time, and for the second time since the Constitution was adopted, a Catholic is Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, by appointment by a President of different creed, and his appointment confirmed by the Senate—overwhelmingly Protestant in its membership.

There never has been urged against a lay Catholic in official life that he used the power of his office to advance the interests of his church to the prejudice of other interests. Indeed, on the few occasions when questions of creed arose in public matters, as in connection with schools on Indian reservations, whether the Government should pay members of Catholic orders for instructing the children of Catholic Indian parents, the strongest speeches in support of such payment were made by Protestants. The speech of the late Senator Vest in this connection is particularly recalled.

The decline of the "know-nothing" and the A. P. A. sentiment in this country is not to be marveled at. Their spirit of narrow bigotry and hate could not survive where on every hand was refutation of their libels—in the unselfish service of Catholics of influence to the State and nation; in the indisputable evidences that none are more zealous for the security of government than they, and none more active or more loyal in public affairs than Irishmen and the sons of Irishmen.—[Dubuque (Iowa) Telegraph-Herald.

G. A. R. WILL MEET IN
OWENSBORO MAY 12 AND 13

The Department Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will be held in Owensboro on May 12 and 13. The business session will be behind closed doors, but there will be a rousing camp fire at the Grand theater on the evening of May 12 for the public.

Addresses of welcome will be delivered by the local Post Commander, the mayor of the city and the Hon. Thos. S. Pettit, responded to by the department commander and the adjutant general, interspersed with martial music, bugle calls, songs, recitations, etc.

Mrs. Belle C. Harris, of Kansas, national president of the Woman's Relief Corps, and John E. Gillman, of Boston, Mass., national commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., will both be present and will make addresses.

CIRCUIT COURT NOTES.

The Ohio Circuit Court convened in court hall at Hartford last Mon-

Easter Celebration.

The celebration of Easter Sunday at the residence of H. C. and N. W.
Dockery, Beaver Dam, Ky., was largely attended. Had a nice dinner set and after dinner was served had an egg hunt. All had a nice time. The guests were: Mrs. Malinda Smith, Mrs. H. C. Dockery's grandmother, aged 84 years, her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. P.

N. Woodruff, and her sister, Mrs.
Anna Woodruff, Miss Leahy Hunt,
Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Dunbar, Mrs.

Easter Egg Hunt.

Quite a number of eggs were prepared for the little boys and girls of the Sunday School classes at old Liberty for a great Easter hunt to be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lee Taylor on Saturday eve.
About 2:30 o'clock quite a little band of boys and girls had gathered in and were very anxious for the hunt to begin.

After this we had two sack races.
A prize was offered by Mrs. Taylor for each—one for the larger and one for the smaller. The prize in the first race was won by Miss Rosa Jackson. In the second by Mr.
Rumsey Smith. After this we had a great pop-corn eating and game of ball. Having about put in the evening, we began to stir around, each fellow starting out for his respective home, feeling that we had spent an evening long to be remembered.

Our New... Spring Suits...

For the last ten days our Clothing Department has had a great rush. Wide-awake, tasteful buyers are beginning to realize the importance of buying their clothing at our store. Why? Because we handle exclusively STERLING BENCH TAILORED line, the line that outstrips all competition in price and quality. Every suit sold makes a permanent customer. Be wise and join the great crowd that buys our Sterling Suits; then you will be well dressed and happy. One entire room devoted exclusively to Men's wear. Two things always bear in mind when you start shopping—trade at Headquarters and with a House That Saves You Money.

Miss Ava Rowe and Mr. Shelby Robinson, of Echols, Ky., were married Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. May on East Union street. The young couple were accompanied by Miss Minnie Maddox and Mr. Willie Manwaring.

Measles seem to be epidemic in the Hamlin's Chapel neighborhood, this county, as the following fathers have the number of children sick opposite their names: R. B. Laws, 6; Thomas Tatum, 3; R. L. McDowell, 5. Mr. John Taylor, of that vicinity, is also ill of the same disease.

An elegant 43-piece Dinner Set or a handsome 10-piece Chamber Set—each worth $6—will be given away free each Saturday by the Ohio County Drug Co. Save your tickets on small purchases. When you get a dollar's worth you get a guess free at these valuable prizes. Try your luck!

Mr. W. G. Duncan returned to Greenville Saturday from Louisville, where he had been for the past month, having gone there to undergo a delicate operation which is said to have been very successful. His numerous friends throughout this county will be pleased to know that he is rapidly recovering.

The Bible School Convention of the Christian Church is in session here to-day, with a large attendance. They have an excellent program which began yesterday and will continue through all of to-day, closing to-night with an address by J. W. Hardy. The sessions are very interesting and instructive.

Acme Lodge No. 339 I. O. O. F., of Hartford, is making preparations to celebrate in a fitting manner the Ninety-Second Anniversary of the founding of the order, which will occur on the 26th of the present month, instead of the 22d, as we stated by error last week. A fine program has been arranged.

In the Mount Pleasant neighborhood, three miles south of Rosine, last Monday night, fire of unknown origin destroyed the large barn of Mr. J. H. Baize. Three horses, one cow, a ton of hay, 75 bushels of corn, a buggy and wagon and all farming implements were consumed by the flames, intailing a total loss. There was no insurance.

Prof. A. E. Ellis, who has been teaching in Hartford College for the past few years, was tendered and has accepted the principalship of the Graded School at Rochester, Ky. Prof. Ellis is one of Ohio county's best teachers and while we regret to lose him and his most estimable wife from our midst, they go with the best wishes of their many friends in Hartford and community.

The banquet resulting from the recent contest in the Baraca class of the Hartford Baptist Church was held in the lodge hall on Center street last Saturday night. It was a most enjoyable affair throughout. Games, plays, songs and talks comprised the features of entertainment with Dr. H. J. Bell as toastmaster. There were 65 present to enjoy the festivities of the occasion. A number of excellent talks were made.

Messrs. J. P. Sevens, Beaver Dam; T. J. Phelps, McHenry; Geo. Wright and Everett Duke, Horton; J. A. Duke and L. M. Hatcher, city; V. C. Hocker, W. P. Leach and W. D. Hocker, Beaver Dam, route 2; T. Teachers For Hartford College.

The Board of Education for Hartford, met Tuesday afternoon of last week and passed upon applications for teachers in the various grades for Hartford College. There were quite a number of applications, all of them with splendid recommendations and it was a difficult matter for the members of the board to make selections from among so many deserving teachers. The following are the selections:

Principal, H. E. Brown; assistant teacher in Collegiate department, Miss Winona Stevens; Sub-Collegiate, W. R. Hedrick; Fifth and Sixth grades, Fred Anderson; Third and Fourth grades, Miss Hattie Glenn; Primary department, Miss Anna Eliza Keown.

BEAVER DAM.

April 17.—Mrs. Emerson Rogers, who has been in Phoenix, Ariz., since the 1st of February, where she had gone to improve her health, returned home last week. She held her own in health, but did not improve very much; in fact, she does not speak favorably of that country as a health resort. Says she would not advise those with pulmonary trouble to visit that country for health. Mrs. Rogers made the trip home alone except with her youngest boy—a distance of twenty-three hundred miles.

Barnes Bros. bought the pooled chickens of the county and Mason

Taylor and John Arbuckle bought those that were not pooled, all taken by a New York firm at 13¢ cents per pound. They were delivered last Wednesday and Thursday. It was the largest delivery of chickens ever made in the county, there being two and a half car loads. Mr. Barnes, the cashier of the bank, informed us that he paid out $6,000 for chickens on those two days. The chicken business is getting to be an item in this county of late years. There was a large number of eggs shipped to the same firm.

Mr. Everett Chapman, of Herrin, Ill., was in town last week, visiting his sister, Mrs. Mate Hunley.

Mr. W. E. Travis, of Indianapolis, Ind., has moved to our town and will engage in the agricultural business.

Mr. A. J. Tucker has gone to Pike county to take charge of some mines in that county. His wife still runs the Tucker Hotel.

JAILED, CHARGED WITH

A HEINOUS OFFENSE

A Twelve-Year-Old Girl Was Innocent Victim of His Lust.

Melvin Grant was brought to Hartford yesterday by Jack Walker and J. W. Loyal, of the Barrett's Ferry neighborhood, and arraigned before Judge Wedding, who, after a preliminary hearing, put his case into the hands of the grand jury, now in session, the prisoner being taken to jail.

Grant is charged with committing a criminal assault upon little Olivia, the twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. Rowe Harrison, living near New Baymum Church, this county. The accused looks to be about thirty years old. The affair occurred about 8 o'clock yesterday morning, between Barrett's Ferry and Davidson's Station, and he met the child while she was on her way to the post-office. She says he threatened to kill her. Much indignation is felt by the citizens at the outrage.

It is said Grant was separated from his wife some time ago and he has the reputation of a ne'er-do-well and a desperate character. After being arrested he came along without protest.

IMAGINED SHE FELT CARESSES

Of Another Man When Husband Fondled Her,

WAS REASON SHE ENDURED IT

The Startling Testimony of An Atlanta Man's Fickle Wife.

HER HUSBAND GIVEN DIVORCE

Atlanta, Ga., April 14.—Because his wife could endure his caresses only by closing her eyes and imagining that he was her lover, George W. Pierce, a well-to-do business man of Atlanta, was given a divorce here.

He married his pretty young wife about three months ago. Mrs. Pierce, as Gussie Longee, was one of the prettiest girls of Atlanta, and she married Pierce after persistent court by him. Six weeks after the wedding she left Pierce and refused to return to him. Instead she wrote him a letter in which she disclosed her real feelings toward him, and this letter, read to the jury, won the divorce suit for Pierce. In her letter Mrs. Pierce says in part:

"When I married you I knew I could never keep the vows I took—vows which have all been broken by me. If you had not been such a blind fool you would have known the first night I was your wife that I did not love you I have never had one spark of love for you from beginning to end, and every caress or word of love I've spoken was a lie. "Once I thought of telling you on that first night. But you, blindly conceited, deemed it impossible that I could help loving you. How I laughed then in my contempt for you, but you, poor little fool, thought I had learned to love you.

"It was due to mamma that I married you. She told me that after we were married, things would be different; that I would love you, and so, I married you—married you when every beat of my heart, every bit of my life, my whole soul, and my honor, belonged to another man.

"There it is out, I do not care. I am glad. It does me good to repeat the words. I love another man. I've loved him a long time. When you used to come kissing me and caressing me, I would have screamed and fought you if I had not closed my eyes and imagined that I was being caressed by the man I really loved.

"And now listen—the worst is, that he is a married man, was married when I met him; had he been single, Oh, me, this letter need never have been written. So, now at last, you see I am not a saint after all."

Pierce offered no evidence except this letter, and the jury granted the divorce without leaving the box.

"And I loved that woman," said Pierce, as the Court announced that the decree was granted.

WEALTHY MAN KILLED BY INSULTED WOMAN

Somerset, Ky., April 14.—Mrs. Maggie Lewis shot and killed Dalton Meadows, a wealthy merchant and timber dealer, at Greenwood, to-day. There were no witnesses to the murder, which occurred at Mrs. Lewis' home. She surrendered and asserted she had been compelled to fire upon Meadows, after he had addressed insulting remarks to her. Meadows leaves a wife and several children.

ANDERSON GETS RESPITE FROM EDDYVILLE PRISON

Frankfort, Ky., April 14.—Gov. Willson has granted a respite of four weeks to T. S. Anderson, the aged Owensboro banker, who was given a sentence of eighteen months in the penitentiary as a result of the failure of the Daviess County Bank and Trust company at Owensboro. Anderson is said to be dying in the Eddyville penitentiary.

By the respite he can be removed from the penitentiary for four weeks, and if at the end of that time he is well, he is then to be returned to prison.

Prison Commissioner Eli H. Brown, Jr., is here to-day and he appealed to Gov. Willson to pardon the former bank president on account of his low state of health. Mr. Brown says Anderson has not been in prison long enough to be granted a parole by the commission.

The Governor declined to pardon, but granted the four-weeks respite, on the condition that if Anderson recovered he should be returned to the pen.

INVITATION TO FILIPINOS TO COME TO OUR COUNTRY

The following has been going the rounds of the press and is supposed to be part of a speech delivered by some member of Congress:

You Filipinos don't know what you are missing by not wanting to become citizens of this grand country of ours. There isn't anything like it under the sun. You should send a delegation over to see us—the Land of the Free—fine churches and 180,000 licensed saloons, Bibles, forts and guns, houses of prayer and houses of prostitution, millionaires and paupers, theologians and thieves, libertines and liars, schools and scallawags, trusts and tramps, homes of hunger, virtue and vice; a land where you get a good Bible for 15c and a bad drink of liquor for 5c; a land where some men want to make sausage out of their wives and some want to eat them raw; a land where men dock their horses' tails and women wear short hair; where we send a man to jail when he steals a loaf of bread and to Congress when he steals a railroad; where to be virtuous is to be lonesome and to be honest, a crank; where we set on the safety valve of energy and pull wide open the throttle of conscience; where we have prayers on the floor of our National Capitol and whiskey in the cellar; where the check-book talks, crime runs amuck and sin predominates our whole social and political fabric and the devil laughs from every street corner. Come to us, Filipinos! We have the greatest aggregation ever exhibited under one tent—hot or cold, all sizes and varieties.

BURNED BY PLAYMATES WHILE PLAYING INDIAN

St. Louis, Mo., April 14.—Edward De Donato, 5 years old, was burned, probably fatally, to-day at his home, 352 North Whittier street, while playing Indian.

Eddie was with four older boys. All wore Indian suits. There was a mimic battle, and Eddie was captured as a hostile brave. He was doomed to be burned at the stake.

A bonfire was built, and the other boys surrounded Eddie and danced about him, constantly closing in and forcing him nearer the fire.

The fringe on his trousers was ignited. The other boys ran away and Eddie ran to the street. A boy driving a grocery wagon saw him and extinguished the flames by rolling him in a horse blanket.

Eddie stoutly refused to name his companions.

The boy's right leg was burned its entire length. Physicians say he cannot live.

DIDN'T KILL HAWK, BUT RECEIVED FATAL WOUND

Lawrenceburg, Ky., April 13.—John W. Bruner, a well-known young farmer, of near Anderson City, this county, accidentally shot himself to-day and he is not expected to survive the day. He went out into the yard to shoot a hawk and in some manner the shotgun was prematurely discharged, the contents taking effect in his temple. No one was with him at the time and the cause of the accident is not known. He has a wife and one child.

Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey has been used by millions of people with perfect satisfaction. For coughs, colds, asthma, in fact all throat and bronchial troubles.

HUMBLE LEMON GREAT CURE-ALL

A Very Simple Remedy, Always Efficacious.

SOME OF ITS VARIOUS USES

Can be Employed in Many Ways for Bodily Ills and Troubles.

IT IS EVEN GOOD FOR CORNS

There are few fruits which contain so many domestic virtues as the lemon, and yet, apart from its use as a flavoring medium as applied to one of the many branches of culinary arts, the familiar yellow fruit meets with but scant appreciation by women of this country.

The extracted juice has invaluable soothing qualities for persons suffering from throat and chest troubles. One of the homeliest, but not on that account to be despised, remedies for a cold is to drink a glass of lemonade as hot and strong as it can be swallowed when in bed at night. A profuse perspiration follows, and provided the remedy is taken in time, it is a famous cure.

Lemon juice and honey are beneficial for coughs. The ordinary method is to mix the juice of the fresh fruit with equal parts of honey, but the better plan is to bake a large lemon in the oven until it is thoroughly soft, then add sufficient strained honey to the pulp to produce a thick syrup.

This should be kept warm, and a teaspoonful taken every quarter of an hour will greatly relieve the patient. Pure glycerine may be substituted for the honey.

An old-time recipe for the alleviation of an obstinate sore throat is as follows: Strain two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice into a wineglass, add the unbroken yolk of a new-laid egg, then more juice, the whole to be swallowed without heating the mixture.

Golfers and women who indulge in outdoor exercise are often worried with tired and swollen feet. They will derive much relief if they rub their skin with equal parts of lemon juice and alcohol, well blended.

The most obstinate corn can be cured, it is said, by the application of a poultice made of bread crumbs and lemon juice. A thin slice of the fruit takes the place of the poultice during the day, the process to be repeated as often as necessary. Rub chibblains with a slice of lemon dipped in salt.

A small bottle of fresh lemon juice should be kept on every toilet table. It is useful to allay irritation caused by the stings and bites of flies and insects. A dash of it in water forms an excellent mouth wash, whitening the teeth, preventing the formation of tartar and sweetening the breath.

The following is a simple recipe for a shampoo: Extract the juice from two lemons and boil this, with the peels, for ten minutes. Strain the juice onto two ounces of salts of tartar, add two quarts of warm water and a few drops of any approved perfume. Use as an ordinary shampoo wash, and note the beneficial effect on the hair and skin.

Women who are inclined to be "too-too solid," or who suffer from rheumatism or torpid livers, should take the juice of half a lemon squeezed into half a tumbler of water (without sugar) every morning instead of the customary early tea.

Two or three slices of lemon in a cup of hot tea (without the addition of milk will often cure a nervous or sick headache, and many people find that munching a lemon is an excellent preventive of train or seasickness.

The lavish use of lemon juice need not necessitate the waste of the peels. Thinly sliced and boiled in the same way as oranges for marmalade, the result is a delicious and refreshing preserve for the breakfast and tea tables.

MET DEATH BY PLAYING WITH A RED-HOT POKER

Central City, Ky., April 14.—Little Evaline Maxwell, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Maxwell, died here as the result of complications arising from severe burns which she suffered on Saturday.

The mother of the child had left the room for only a moment, but during her absence the little girl placed the poker in the grate, and as it grew red hot she withdrew it, waving it in the air. In doing so she struck the thin folds of her white dress, which was quickly a mass of flames, that leaped to the child's head.

Mrs. Maxwell extinguished the flames, and the burns were supposed to be not fatal, but on Monday pneumonia developed, and the weakened child was quickly overcome by the disease. The funeral occurred on Wednesday at Russellville.

GIVE HIM A LIFT.

I was trudging one day down a dusty road While my back was curved under a bit of a load

And the way was long and my feet were sore, And my bones ached under the load I bore;

But I struggled on in the summer's heat Till I came to a pool where I bathed my feet.

Then, resting a bit, I shouldered my load And wended my way down the dusty road.

The morning stretched into the afternoon— My journey's end seemed as far as the moon;

Till at length a horse and wagon drew near, And my heart revived with a spark of cheer.

But the man saw only his own small soul, And the narrow way to his narrow goal,

And he whipped his horse to a guilty trot, Though the sand was deep, and the day was hot,

And he passed me by on the dusty road, And I sank lower beneath my load.

Yet out of the dust, came another man, With a grizzled beard and a cheek of tan,

And he pulled up short, and he gaily cried: "I say, there, comrade, get in and ride!"

And he placed my bundle behind the seat, And he said, "Climb in here an' rest your feet;

I never pass by a man on the road; An' specially, friend, if he's got a load."

I reached my journey ere came the night, And my feet were rested, my heart was light;

And I blessed the driver who'd gaily cried: "I say there, comrade, get in and ride!"

Ah! the world is full of sore-footed men Who need a slight lift every now and again,

And the angels can see through the white cloud rift All the God-like souls who give them a lift.

SPECIAL NOTICE in regard to OBITUARIES, RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT, &c.

The Hartford Herald has adopted a new rule in regard to Obituaries, Resolutions of Respect, Cards of Thanks, &c., whether written at the behest of lodges, churches or individuals, and that is, we shall charge at the rate of two cents per line for all such articles, except obituary poetry, which will be one cent per word, straight. This is the smallest rate we charge for anything and is only one-fifth of our regular rate. The amount, in cash or stamps, must accompany each article, or it will not be printed. Six words average a line in ordinary reading and every separate character or initial letter counts as a word. The heading and the signature both count one line each, even if they are only a word or two. All obituary poetry, straight through, one cent per word.

Our old rule in regard to Obituaries, &c. was 150 words free, balance a cent a word, but this did not prove satisfactory because the bounds were almost always overstepped, and we have been forced to adopt this new rule, which is in effect from now on. Contributors will please remember.

GENTLE ART OF TRADING HORSES

In Days When Men Were Dead Game Sports.

EXPERIENCE OF ONE OF THEM

He Always Traded and Never Got Offended at Being Beaten.

A GAME OF "GIVE" AND "GET"

"I have been reading that David Harum story," said the ancient liverman, when his cronies were comfortably seated in his little office. "A friend told me that story was the last word on horse trading, but the man who wrote it didn't understand the spirit of the game at all. David Harum would have been skinned out of his teeth if he had blown into any Western town in the palmy days of horse trading, twenty-five or thirty years ago.

"I tell you, my friends, all the dead game sports are asleep with their fathers. Nobody is willing to take a chance nowadays. If a man buys a cigar, he wants a bill of sale with it. The other day a cheap skate pestered me a whole afternoon talking about buying a horse. He tried out all the nags in the barn, and finally decided that the glass-eyed bay would suit him. And he actually wanted a written guaranty that the horse was sound! A written guaranty! No, gentlemen, I am not joking. That bald-headed travesty on a man actually asked for such a document. I regarded it as an insult, and after I had rebuked him, they had to pour four buckets of cold water over him before he regained consciousness.

"In the good old days, horse trading was a game, not a commercial transaction. If a man wasn't willing to take the chances when he went trading, he was advised to try some other line of business. Many and many a time I had the harpoon administered to me. One day Major Charlie Slaughter drove me to his barn and invited me to take a drink with him.

"I have quite a neat package of horseflesh here," said the Major, "and I have a sort of presentiment that he can travel a few lines when the wind is blowing in the right direction."

"His horse was a handsome roan, a regular peacock for style, with his head away up in the air so you'd need a stepladder to see if he had a star on his forehead. And the way he hit the road was a sin. Talk about gaited horses! That roan handled his legs as though he had taken sparring lessons. Now, my weak point in the horse business is that when I want a certain nag the worst way, I can't conceal the fact. I just can't sleep or eat my vitals until that horse is in my barn, with a new halter on him. The Major was wise to my weakness.

"It's no use, Jake," said the Major, "this boss isn't on my swapping list. Every roan hair on him just suits me, and I'd be a chump to let him go."

"Well, of course, I got the roan all right. The Major was just bluffing. And I gave him the biggest trade you ever heard of. Gave him a matched team and several bills for that gangling roan. And when I took the roan to the water trough for a drink, I found that he couldn't lower his head. He had to carry it about ten feet in the air all the time, owing to some injury to his neck. He had to eat his flaked rice off a shelf and drink from a garden hose, and a man needed an aeroplane to put a bridle on him.

"Did I raise a fuss with the Major? What sort of a skate do you take me for? Next time I saw him I told him I liked the roan better than any horse I ever saw. 'He isn't always rolling in the ground like a pig,' says I, 'and if you had told me about his patent dirigible neck, I'd have given you $10 more.' We were sports in those days.

"One time the veterinary surgeon told me about a fine trotting horse in a town some distance away which had been deprived of its tail by a surgical operation. He was a perfect beauty and could trot like an avalanche. But the owner was ashamed to drive him, so I bought the critter for a song. I went to a bit of trouble having a tail made for him. It was a beautiful flowing tail, a credit to the hairdresser's art. It was fixed to slip over the horse's stub and was then fastened to the crupper of the harness and a man needed good eyes to see that it wasn't the real thing.

"The Major had poor eyes and when I took him for a drive behind that black trotter, he simply had to be tied down to the seat he was so excited. He said he'd always wanted a horse with a tail like that. He had my own weakness. He couldn't pretend indifference when he wanted a thing the worst way, and he wanted the horse so bad that his hair was falling out. After a great deal of deliberation I issued my ultimatum.

"I'll give you the horse, harness and buggy just as they stand," said I, "for your sorrel three-year-olds and $50. Either of the sorrels was worth a herd of horses like the black.

"It's a trade," cried the Major. "Next morning the Major came around to my barn, all smiles. 'Ever since I was a child and quit playing with a rattler,' says he, 'I have wanted a horse with a detachable tail—a tail that a man can take off and use as chin whiskers at a masked ball. I just called to pay you another 50 cents so that when I meet you after this, you can't say I took advantage of you in our trade yesterday.'

"Oh, there were real sports in those days."—[Chicago News.

MORE REMINISCENSES OF ORPHAN BRIGADE

Retreat to Morton Station—Camp
Life in Swamps of Mississippi.

Our company lost one man in the fight at Jackson. C. H. Jones was mortally wounded and was left on the battlefield. After a march of 40 miles our regiment went into camp at Morton Station.

General Grant followed us no further, so that hot summer campaign ended with the battle of Jackson. We next put up our tents and erected our camp in that swampy country that no soldiers had ever camped in before. Washing of clothing and everything to make camp life pleasant, was done.

As we had not been paid in a long time, the paymaster visited our camp and paid the boys in new five-dollar Confederate bills, but as coffee was five dollars a pound and fire-water five dollars a drink and everything else in proportion, our money was soon gone. Our boys were soon rested from the hard campaign we had just undergone, and every kind of game of chance known was indulged in for pastime.

One event occurred during our stay at this camp I shall never forget, which shows our boys never forgot mischief. One evening an old farmer drove an ox wagon into our camp loaded with roasting ears and peaches. No doubt, he told his good wife his load would bring a thousand dollars, but not so. By the time the wagon was still, it was covered with the boys, each with a five-dollar bill and grabbing what was in sight and at the same time calling for "change." While the old man was changing the first bill, his produce was being carried off. He observed the dilemma he was in and undertook to drive out, but the boys were on his wagon and one against each wheel, which prevented him from moving. After all was over, he drove out with one five dollar Confederate bill and not having the same opinion of the Kentucky boys he had when he came.

Our boys were now well rested and had enjoyed camp life fine in that swampy country, but now September had come and once more the Orphan Brigade was ordered back to Tennessee. While we were resting up at this place, another desperate campaign was being planned. Orders had come to break camp and to be ready to march, so the 1st of September, 1863, we took the train for Mobile. There we were transferred to a boat and went up the Alabama river to Montgomery. Most of the boys were under arrest while on the river for shooting alligators on the bank, that being against orders. At Montgomery we took the train and soon arrived at Tyner Station, Tennessee.

PUFFED THEIR OWN WARES.

Authors in the Good Old Days Threw Bouquets at Themselves.

Authors in "the good old days" were not above writing their own puffs. Charles Reade wrote a long article on himself for Once a Week, in which he said:

"It is impossible to speak too highly of 'The Cloister and the Hearth.' It is one of the most scholarly and learned as well as one of the most artistic and beautiful works of fiction in any language. Read him. Reassign yourself to the magic spell of his genius. The effect of 'Foul Play' is perfectly marvelous. It leaves the stories of every other sensational novel writer far behind.

Nor was Balzac in France above praising his own works. 'If you have not been born a story teller,' he wrote in a review, 'you will never obtain the popularity of M. de Balzac. And what a story teller! What verve and wit! How the world is dissected by this man! What passion and coolness!'

But the height of literary advertising in the first half of the last century was reached in the case of Eugene Sue's famous novel "The Wandering Jew." Every little while the daily installment in the newspaper in which it was appearing would be missing, and in its place would be an announcement that M. Sue was suffering from a slight indisposition and readers would be obliged to wait forty-eight hours for new developments of the narrative. So well did these methods succeed, says Mr. Tassin, that it was impossible to buy outright a copy of the journal, but instead copies were rented out at 10 sous for half an hour, the time thought necessary to read the installment. "And all the while Sue himself was industriously abetting the publishers by posing overdone and with spurs to his boots at the Cafe de Paris in an attitude of deepest abstraction, as if wondering what the next installment would be about!"—Bookman.

NESTS OF SEAWEED.

Floating Homes For Flying Fish in the Sargasso Sea.

Science is beginning to know a good deal more than it formerly did about that strange "drowned meadow" in the Atlantic ocean southwest of the Azores which is called the Sargasso sea.

It is, as is well understood, a vast accumulation of a kind of seaweed which, upheld at the surface of the water by innumerable little air vessels that act as floats, is continually renewed by the breaking up of its fronds and the growth of the broken parts. Many fishes have established their homes in it as well as numerous swimming crabs, small cuttlefish and quite a variety of other creatures.

Most remarkable of all its inhabitants is the mouse fish, which has pectoral fins developed in such a way as to resemble arms. By these it holds on to the fronds of the weed, a creature of solitary habits, highly carnivorous and always waiting for some prey to come within reach. It is a fish of very peculiar appearance, with ever so many queer looking appendages, and in color it imitates closely the plant that affords it shelter, being green with white spots.

The flying fishes that inhabit the floating meadow make ball-like nests out of fronds of the weed as big as two fists. Such balls are found floating and appear as if knit together with elastic threads. They are filled with eggs. Professor Louis Agassiz mistook them for nests of the mouse fish, but Dr. Theodore Gill, an eminent authority, has proved this to have been an error. Each one of these nests is composed of a single frond, which by commencing with the slender outer branchlets and peeling them successively off can be spread out entire.—New York World.

STRICT WARNING SENT TO MEXICO

That Killing of Americans Must Stop.

OFFICERS GET INSTRUCTIONS

To Act Promptly to Prevent Repetition of Agua Prieta Outrage.

DAMAGES WILL BE DEMANDED

Washington, April 15.—Urgent admonition to the Mexican Government that it shall not select places as battle grounds which endanger the lives and property of American citizens has been dispatched to Mexico City.

Acting on instructions from the President, the War Department has advised its military officers along the frontier, and especially near Agua Prieta, to do all in their power, without violating neutrality laws, to prevent a recurrence of the incidents of the battle at that place Thursday by which noncombatant American citizens in Douglas, Ariz., were killed and wounded.

The British cruiser Shearwater landed marines yesterday at San Quentin, lower California, to protect British citizens at that place, and has moved from San Quentin to Ensenada.

The foregoing are three of the most important developments in the Mexican situation to-day, which is described officially by the Administration as acute.

President Taft is determined that battles between Mexican Federalists and insurgents shall not be fought on American soil. He is equally determined that the lives of American noncombatants shall not be endangered by the forces of President Diaz and those of General Madero.

Future combats between the rebels and the forces of the Mexican Government must not be fought so close to the American frontier as to put in jeopardy the lives and property of Americans.

Through the State Department the President notified the Mexican Government that no such unfortunate incident as that of Thursday at Agua Prieta, near Douglas, Ariz., when two Americans were killed and eleven wounded, be allowed to occur.

Through the War Department and through the Department of Justice the President sent the same sort of warning to the leader of the insurgents at Agua Prieta.

The President knows that battle grounds are not chosen like places for the holding of athletic contests, but at the same time he takes the position that preparations for battle must be made by the hostile forces in Mexico with due consideration of the effect upon noncombatant Americans.

The President knows that some of the American spectators at Thursday's affair near Douglas were eager to see the fight, and might have gotten too close to the engaged forces, but he has been informed also that warning was given to the insurgents at least not to get too close to the United States.

Hereafter this Government expects both insurgents and the Mexican Federal troops to erect trenches or make their line of battle far enough away from American soil to make it certain that Americans engaged in the occupations of peace will not be interrupted by bullets.

The Mexican Government, according to the view at the State Department, will be held accountable for the loss of life and injury to Americans of Douglas, Ariz., during the fighting between Federalists and insurgents at Agua Prieta Thursday. No matter whether the fire of the Federalists or that of the insurgents inflicted the injury, it will be the Federal Government to which the United States will look for reparation.

As soon as official reports upon the fighting and the casualties sustained by Americans shall have been received, representations will be made to the Mexican Government, it is said, and in due course the claims of those injured will be presented. It is pointed out, however, that in some cases Mexico will have a counter claim of contributory negligence on the part of the injured Americans. That there will be some justice in such a contention is argued from the fact that the Americans took their stand in such close proximity to the fighting as to place their lives in jeopardy. On the other hand, many of the wounded sustained their hurts while in pursuit of their usual business in the streets or buildings of Douglas.

Here Are the Missives.
The following is the text of the correspondence which led to the positive action by President Taft in the Mexican situation:

Douglas, Ariz., April 14.
To the President, Washington, D. C.—During an engagement between the Federalists and the insurgents at Agua Prieta, Mexico, one mile from Douglas, two Americans killed and 11 wounded, including some children attending to their own business in Douglas. Thousands of bullets fell in our city, passing through residences and endangering life and property. Is there no way by which Americans can be protected in the peaceful pursuit of their affairs? Expect more fighting on the line at any time. Combatants fought within 10 feet of American line yesterday.

Douglas Chamber of Commerce and Mines.
E. P. Grindell, Secretary.

Washington, April 14.
E. P. Grindell, Secretary Douglas Chamber of Commerce and Mines, Douglas, Ariz.—Your telegram to President Taft received. He is much distressed at the situation as you describe it. He has directed the Secretary of State and the Secretary of War to take steps by which such a deplorable occurrence as that of yesterday at Douglas may be avoided in the future. In the meantime the President sincerely hopes that the Chamber of Commerce and the local authorities of Douglas may use all influence possible upon your citizens to keep as far as possible from the scene of fighting and to avoid taking sides in order not to aggravate a situation already acute.
Chas. D. Hillis, Secretary.

HOPEWELL.
April 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Baugh, of near Centertown, are visiting their sister, Mrs. Henry Stom, of this community.

Dr. Shep, of Rochester, came to see Mr. Arthur Johnson one day last week and cut the stitches on his toe. It was not doing very well but he thinks it will begin to heal now.

Mr. Mark Brown, of Prentiss, spent a night with Mr. W. D. Shull last week.

Mrs. Thomas Ford is on the sick list. Neuralgia is the trouble.

Miss Polly Coleman gave a nice entertainment last Friday night, it being the end of her school.

Our directors of the local telephone company met last Saturday to adjust some matters pertaining to the lines.

Mrs. Hiram Taylor, of Taylortown, and her son Edgar, spent last Sunday with her sister, Mrs. J. R. Shull. Mr. Shull has been very sick and is not getting along well at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas, of Williams Mines, spent a few days with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Douglas, of this neighborhood, last week.

Mr. Albert Taylor visited Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Bennett, at Ceralvo, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Alec Russell attended a Masonic fish-fry at Rockport last Saturday night.

That there are a lot of folks who pay double what they should for eyeglasses, by thinking they have to go to a specialist to be fitted right? I know when a patient should go to a specialist and tell him so, for I know I can't give him satisfaction, which is essential to success, but I do know if your need of glasses is due to age only, I can fit you as well as Mr. Specialist, at about half the price. Try in such cases to spend the $ in at home and maybe you'll get it back again.
